

The Above is the Block Diagram of Fitness Tracker.

Fitness Tracker-A fitness tracker is a device that uses sensors to track your orientation, movement, and rotation. The device collects data and converts it into steps, calories, sleep quality and general activity you perform through the day